Threaten Life Of Captain Hall Says Wireless From Ichang

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hankow, Oct. 26.—A wireless message from Ichang, dated October 23 states that the steamers Meitan and Anlan returned from Chungking yesterday. They report that all steamers arrived safely at Chungking.

The Loongmow was boycotted and not permitted to discharge her cargo or the baggage of the passengers. Captain Hall's life was threatened.

The Loongmow was not permitted to leave and a guard of four men from the U. S. S. Monocacy was placed on board.

H. M. S. Teal was in act on on the 15th with rifles and machine-guns against the Szechuenese at Kuantukow.

HEAR TROOPS MUTINY

Peking, Oct. 23.—Advices received in railway administration circles here state that some of the troops of the First Division, commanded by General Hao Keng, mutinied at Changsha on October 15, demanding an issue of pay. The merchants and population of Changsha are said to have suffered considerable losses. No confirmation of this report, however, has been received.

INDIFFERENT TO SUN

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 26.—Premier Chin's attitude toward the northern drive by Canton is one of indifference. He maintains that the Southerners cannot reach an unanimous agreement as to the advisability of such an undertaking.

The Premier does not advocate the declaration of war on the South, but proposes to announce to the whole nation that Dr. Sun Yat-sen is responsible for the national disruption.

He holds General Wu Pei-fu answerable for making peace with the Szechuenese and Honanese and asks President Hsu to send a representative to make Liu Hsiang of Szechuen ally himself with the North.

SUN AND CHEN AGREE

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 24.—That an agreement has been reached by Dr. Sun Yat-sen and General Chen Chiungming in regard to the campaign against the North is the latest news that has been received from Cantonese sources. It is reported that preparations are in full swing for the anti-Peking expedition.

The Southern general is said to have attended the Wuchow conference at which military and provincial leaders discussed the plans for Dr. Sun's active military attempt to attack the Peking Government and to have given his consent to the project. In return the Southern President has granted General Chen the control of the southern provinces of his government.

In regard to financial preparations there seems to be a good deal of doubt as to just what Dr. Sun has accomplished. In Japanese circles it is reported that the municipal administrative loan from an American bank is a reality and that $7,000,000 has already been advanced to the Canton Government. Foreign financial circles, however, give very little credit to the report.

Manila Will Be "Coastwise" In New Fleet Plans

Washington, Oct. 25.—Manila will be a "coastwise port" of the United States if the plans of President Powell of the Emergency Fleet Corporation go through. This is expected, shipping men say, to cause weepings and wailings and gnashings, also clashings, as it would list Pacific going ships as entitled to free canal passage. After they reach Manila, "what odds where they go," is the opinion of those in the Pacific trade.

ARMS PARLEY MUST DEFER TO UNKNOWN DEAD SOLDIER

Typical Of Sacrifice, His Oblation Is Making Parley On Arms

(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Oct. 25.—Owing to the ceremonies attendant upon the arrival in Washington of the "unknown" soldier's body which will be here on November 11, the opening of the Disarmament Conference will be deferred to the following day.

It is deemed fitting, the authorities say, that he who typifies the sacrifice America made to bring world's peace within reach should take precedence of the parley designed to put into concrete form that for which he died.

It has been announced by the Cunard Line that the sailing date of the Aquitania has been advanced two days so that Premier Lloyd George will leave Britain on November 3, or 48 hours ahead of the date originally planned.

YEN NOT ON LIST

(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Oct. 26.—Officials here are in receipt of the following official list of delegates who will represent China at the Pacific conference: Dr. Alfred Tsze, Chinese minister to the United States; Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese minister at the court of St. James; C. C. Wu, son of the exminister of finance; Wan Chung-hui, chief justice, and M. E. Liang, former minister of foreign affairs.

No mention is made in the above dispatch of Dr. W. W. Yen, minister of foreign affairs, who, it was generally believed, would head the Chinese delegation at Washington. Dr. Yen's going has been a matter of considerable doubt and discussion and Peking has first affirmed and then denied that he would head the delegation. The general belief is that his decision to go will be announced at the last moment.

DEBT TO BE QUESTION

London, Oct. 25.—The New York Times says that the United States's opposition to the Disarmament Conference discussing international finance seems to have disappeared and it is now reasonably certain that such questions will come up.

DUTCH MINISTER GOES

Anglo-Japanese Alliance Has Outrun Usefulness Is Lord Northcliffe's Dictum

Prevents British-American Cordiality By Placing United States Outside All Solution Of Pacific Problems

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, October 25.—Lord Northcliffe interviewed by Reuter today said: "Representatives of the Japanese press met me at Manila, pressing for my view of the Anglo-Japanese Agreement. I repled that owing to the possibility of my views being misinterpreted owing to our ignorance of each others language I would make my statement to a British press agency in Hongkong.

"During the last two years I have been gradually coming to the conclusion that the Anglo-Japanese Agreement has outrun its usefulness. Japan faithfully carried out her compact during the war and she has been magnificently rewarded for her services.

"The purpose of the Washington Conference—a meeting of equals—is to reach a mutual agreement, but the United States is handicapped by the arrangement already made by Japan and Great Britain concerning China, the chief problem of the Pacific.

"The Anglo-Japanese Alliance is undoubtedly the dominating factor which now prevents an unfettered attempt by Great Britain, Japan and the United States to solve the problems of the Pacific, because it places the United States outside a very definite arrangement for the control of China.

"The prolongation of the Alliance only serves to irritate public and official opinion in the United States; it merely humiliates China, and it adds nothing to the prestige of Great Britain in Asia. It cannot assist in the establishing of co-operative means of helping China from the present chaos and it prevents a reconciliation of the diverging interests of Japan and the United States.

"At present China cannot give satisfactory national guarantees and so there is an urgent necessity for making international assistance to China a practical possibility.

"I hold that there can be no solution of Pacific problems which does not rest on the solid foundation of Anglo-American friendship and co-operation. Unfortunately the Anglo-Japanese Alliance has been prolonged beyond the point where it is understood by Americans or liked by Chinese."

Lord Northcliffe leaves for Canton tonight and will depart for Yokohama tomorrow.

'I DID NOT', SAYS WOMAN ON TRIAL FOR POISONING

(Special To The China Press)

Twin Falls, Idaho, Oct. 25.—Mrs. Southard, who has been on trial for a week under the accusation of having killed one man and tried to slay two other men by administering insect powder with their food, took the stand in her own behalf today.

She kept her eyes fixed on the jury and her answers were given in a barely audible voice when the attorney for the defense questioned her. She related quite calmly the circumstances of Meyer's fatal illness going into great detail. She was not nervous or flurried in the slightest. When asked whether she had purchased insect powder, she freely admitted having bought two packages, but denied categorically that she had bought more than two.

Then came the direct question from the defense:

"Did you administer poison, insect powder or other poison to this man Meyer."

In level tones, still with her eyes on the jury, she replied:

"I did not."

Questioned as to whether she had poisoned or attempted to poison M. S. Haffie and Edward Dooley, she again replied, even more emphatically:

"I did not."

SOON WILL GRAY CLAD RANKS JOIN BLUES IN GRAVE

(Special To The China Press)

Chatanooga, Oct. 25.—Soon will the "stars and bars" of the "Confederate States of America" be laid in the dust of the graves of those that once proudly bore them.

The fast dwindling band of the United Confederate Veterans filed through the streets here today in their annual meeting and thousands whose fathers fought the losing cause of the South wept as the greyclad ranks, once millions strong, but now numbering scant hundreds passed through the sorrowing lines.

The city was in gala dress for them, but it was with sad hearts that the citizens watched the line of men who fought through the wilderness and in the grapple at Chicamauga stood up for their belief. Many who wore the blue in the Civil War cheered their former foes as they swung marching along, but it was with a catch in their throats.

WOMEN ARE NEAR GOAL IN DRIVE; LACK ONLY $1,300

Mrs. Woo and Mrs. Atkinson are the team leaders. But two more days remain in which to reach the goal.

A number of campaign workers and members of the teams attended the rally tea at the Young Women's Christian Association rooms, 11a Quinsan Road yesterday afternoon. The total amount reported was $13,660.86 leaving $1,339.14 of the $15,000 budget to be raised in two days.

The workers enthusiastically decided to carry on until Friday in order to secure the full quota. Owing to the fact that the needs were closely figured out before the amount was set for the budget, the full quota must be realised, or the work of the Association will be seriously impeded for the coming year. The increased demand for Chinese secretaries in the Association work has necessitated the enlarging of the budget over last year, as the Chinese secretaries' salaries are paid out of the funds raised in China. As all foreign secretaries' salaries are paid by the Association in the countries from which they are sent, the work of the Associa-

Now Is Foodless Night To Be Given Its Aroma

Rise, brethren of the midnight taper, and make solemu and elaborate obeisance in the direction of Mr. J. F. Hull!

All ye who labor through the watches of the night, with subor super-consciousness oershadowed by the hankering for food, elevate your voices in a paean of pancreatic esctasy!

Into the grim, grey waste of gastronomic gloom which has so long enshrouded us there penetrates a radiant beam, pregnant with possibilities of emancipation of our eatless lot.

Mr. Hull is about to introduce the all-night "coffee wagon" to Shanghai.

We do not know who Mr. Hull is, nor who his cook is, but, on behalf of the morning newspaper fraternity of this hamlet we hereby cry Gramercy.

When intimation of the impending event came into this office today—via the Municipal Gazette—the gentleman at the adjoining desk, whose aspect is more attenuated and wolfish than that of Cassius, murmured something which sounded like "Eureka" and collapsed beneath his desk. The night cable editor emitted a series of sounds which would have done credit to an Arapahoe Corn Dance and the lady feature writer broke down and sobbed all over the octave. The chronicler of these transpirings said nothing, but any seismograph which may have established communications with his digestive furnishings is probably inspiring the announcement to the world that the greatest tembloric disturbance of history is now under way, with its center approximating Shanghai.

To become more explicit and give the hungering a better idea of what is in prospect the following is quoted, from Mr. Hull's application to the Municipal Council—which application, Glory Be! has been granted:

"From the wagon, I propose to serve light lunches such as—hot coffee and tea—hot meat sandwiches—soup—cakes—baked beans and anything else in the line of 'Snack' dishes as experience shows to appeal to the general tastes of the patrons.

"If the license is approved the wagon or wagons will be neatly and substantially constructed; either on a Ford truck or a four wheeled horse drawn vehicle designed especially to meet the requirements.

"Wagons such as I propose are now in use in many of the large cities in various parts of the world, these wagons are so constructed as to provide a narrow counter with swinging seats for the patrons. When moving it will occupy no more space on the street than an ordinary two-ton truck."

With the poignant anticipation of luscious lamb chops interfering with our vision and the smell of sizzling ham and coffee tying up inspiratory traffic, let us, brethren of the half-gone candle, crook the knee to Mr. Hull and wish him all speed and a growing business.

Subscriptions toward the purchase of a cook book dedicated to nocturnal dishes will be received at this office with acclaim.

FEAR OKUMA IS NEAR DEATH; ALL JAPAN MOURNING

(Special To The China Press)

Tokio, October 26.—Marquis Shige-nobu Okuma, former premier of Japan, one of the foremost living statesmen of the Island Empire, is lying at death's door, according to popular belief, although his physicians will not admit publicly that such is the case. He is known to be dangerously ill with a kidney affliction resembling Bright's disease and the medical profession is a unit outside of his personal doctors, in saying that a man of his age has scarcely one chance for life in a million.

Marquis Okuma is 83 years of age and was expected to be a tower of strength in interpreting to the Genro or Elder Statesmen, the meaning of the various steps in the Washington Conference, as his points of contact with the foreigner, especially the Americans, have been many. His death at this juncture, Japanese statesmen say, would be a national calamity and prayers for his recovery are being offered by men of every class and political creed, as well as in quarters near the throne, it is stated.

Okuma has been consistent in his advocacy of Japan for the Japanese and had charge of the revision of the treaties in the Kuroda Cabinet. There he included a clause for inclusion of a foreign judge in the courts, and the result was a bomb which blew off one of his legs. He holds the highest honors and decorations next to those given reigning sovereigns by Japan.

Harmsworth On Japanese Progress As Colonists

TELLS COMMONS HALF MILLION IN NEW POSSESSIONS

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 25.—In the House of Commons today Sir Walter De Frece asked whether, in view of the claims of Japan that she must find room for the expansion of her growing population, the Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs could give reliable statistics showing the extent to which the Japanese had settled in the most recent Japanese acquisitions, Korea, Formosa, Saghalien and the Luchu Islands.

Mr. Cecil Harmsworth replied that the most recent figures at the disposal of the Foreign Office, which were from the Japanese sources and, he believed, approximately accurate, showed that in 1918 there were 236,000 Japanese settlers in Korea, 148,000 in Formosa and in 1920 there were 105,000 in Saghalien. He pointed out that the Luchu Islands were a small group and densely populated and offered no facility for immigration from Japan proper.

MUST FULFIL TREATIES

Prague, Oct. 25.—Addressing the Foreign Affairs Committee of the National Assembly, the Premier, Dr. Benes, dealing with Karl's adventure, said that the Czecho-Slovak policy was aimed at securing the fulfilment of the treaties, the disarmament of Hungary, prevention of the recurrence of the events of the last few days and punishment of the guilty.

In spite of the latest developments in Hungary the partial mobilisation decreed by the Czecho-Slovak Government was taking its course.

Charges Japan Plot To Seize All Fokien

Charges that Japan is attempting to sieze the island of Ching Mung-tao as the first step in a plan for acquiring all of Fokien province were made by a representative from Amoy before a large gathering of Shanghai Fokienese at the Fokienese Merchants' Guild Tuesday, according to the Chinese press.

The representative declared that Japan had at all times had its eye on Ching Mung-tao and at the present time is sending immigrants from Formosa with the sole purpose of creating disturbances there so that they would have a pretext to send troops to occupy the region.

It was also declared that Japan had sent policemen in plain clothes to assist in fomenting trouble and backing up the Formosan immi-

GERMAN SITS IN COUNCIL UPON LABOR CONDITIONS

Forty States Join For Parley To Improve Worker's Status

(French Wireless Through Reuter)

Paris, Oct. 25.—The Third International Labor Conference opened at 11 this morning at Geneva. Forty States, including Germany, have sent representatives.

As provided in the Peace Treaty each State has the right to send four delegates, two representing the Government, one the employers and the other the workers. The total number of delegates was about 400.

The Conference first considered the report of the Director on the activity of the International Labor Bureau and modifications in the council of administration of the Bureau. Amongst the questions for settlement by the Conference, that of agricultural laborers comes first on the agenda. The President of the Swiss Confederation and the Premier at Geneva were present at the sitting.

PRAISES NATIONS LEAGUE

M. Fontaine (France), President of the Council of Administration of the Bureau, recalled that legislation for the protection of labor first developed in Switzerland. The creation of the International Bureau and its activities for two years showed a continuity of progress and progressive incorporation in the laws of each State of measures for the protection of labor.

The speaker recommended various modifications of procedure in the Conference, relating to resolutions and the drafting of international agreements. He then renewed the praises, made in the Assembly of the League of Nations, to M. Albert Thomas, the Director, and to the staff of the Bureau.

M. Schulthess, President of the Swiss Federal Councils welcomed the delegates in the name of Switzerland. He said that it would be to the honor of the creators of the League of Nations that they had reserved a special place to Labor. The International Bureau represented one of the most significant creations of the Covenant and a new spirit.

The speaker laid stress on the economic crisis, caused by the war, which showed itself in every country under different forms and tended to paralyse the activity of the enfeebled nations.

PROGRESS AIDS LABOR

To create opportunities for labor was today the best system for the protection of Labor and the best factor for world reconstruction. The task undertaken by the Conference would only be successful if the nations acted in such a way as to keep pace with social progress.

M. Gignoux, President of the Council of State at Geneva, Associated himself with M. Schulthess in welcoming the delegates and expressed the pride of Geneva at having been chosen as the seat on the League of Nations and of the International Labor Bureau.

The Conference then proceeded to the election of its President. Lord Burnham (Great Britain), proposed by M. Fontaine, and supported by Mr. Poulton (Great Britain) and M. Godart (France) was elected.

WANT AMERICA IN

The new President of the Conference thanked the delegates and on behalf of his country expressed the hope that the United States would not long hold aloof from this organisation. The work already accomplished, he said, was considerable. A conference, so representative, was a step towards a truly international Parliament and a world federation. In his turn Lord Burnham laid stress on the present economic crisis. He praised the management of the Bureau.

At the suggestion of M. Albert Thomas the delegates met this afternoon in their respective groups.—Government, employers and workers to choose a Vice-President and the members of the various committees.

APPEAL FOR JUSTICE

(China Press Correspondence)

Hankow, Oct. 22.—At a general meeting held in the Hankow Chamber of Commerce building yesterday afternoon the Pacific Conference Association of Hankow, representing the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce, the Western Returned Students' Association, the Chinese Bankers' Association of Hankow, the Y.M.C.A. and various other civilian organisations, drafted and passed the following resolution as an expression of the attitude of the Chinese people towards Far Eastern problems that are likely to come up for the Pacific Conference's consideration:

"As the coming Conference is reported to have authority to readjust and remedy injustices in international intercourse, and since the future peace of the Far East depends on its outcome, we hope earnestly that the participating Powers will accord us fair play unreservedly and wholeheartedly; and therefore we venture to suggest that:

1.—"In the interest of justice all participating states should be entitled to equal freedom and full privilege of asserting their wishes.

2.—"All previous understandings with regard to China and to which China is not herself a party should be nullified.

3.—"There should be no limitation to the making of proposals regarding questions that concern specific nations.

4.—"The pacts between China and Japan to which China's consent was obtained by 'force majeure' should be abrogated.

5.—"The Province of Shantung and the Leased Territory of Kiaochiao should be returned to China unconditionally.

6.—"China's sovereignty and territorial integrity should be reaffirmed; 'spheres of influence' should be abolished; and the 'Open Door Policy' should be carried out."

CHINESE DELEGATES HERE

About twenty delegates representing a large number of Peking organisations have arrived in Shanghai to attend the National Chinese Citizens' Diplomatic Conference which is to be held here. The Shantung question is one of the important matters that will come before the meeting.

AGAIN IS NOTE MADE READY ON SHANTUNG CASE

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 26.—The reply to Japan's second memorandum on Shantung was ready yesterday, but the general attitude of the diplomatic body toward the reply will be first ascertained before it is tendered to the Japanese legation.

The context is said to deny any commitments made by individuals as to direct negotiations on the Shantung question and sets forth several stipulations in the Covenant of the League of Nations relative to this problem.

It states that China, being one of the Allied Powers, could not be expected to cede her territory for the effort of the Japanese in the war, just as Belgium did not give up any of her territory in order to compensate others of the Allies for their services.

The Chinese people, the note is said to state, are greatly disappointed over the Japanese conditional offer for restoration of Shantung to China, which, in reality means nothing.

IS BRITAIN BOUND?

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 25.—In the House of Commons today Mr. Kenyon asked: "Is the British Government still bound by the secret agreement with Japan which dictated its policy in Paris in respect to Shantung and have changed circumstances modified the British attitude in this connection?"

Mr. Chamberlain replied that as far as the British Government were concerned, the Shantung question was settled by the decision embodied in the Treaty of Versailles.

PUT LACQUER ON

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, October 24.—Finishing touches to the Foreign Office's reply to Mr. Obata's second Shantung memorandum, of October 19, are being put on today, and it is expected that the reply will go before the Cabinet for approval tomorrow and be handed to Mr. Obata some time Wednesday afternoon.

Official statements as to the contents of the Chinese reply are not forthcoming, but it is reported that the note will constitute a refusal to consider direct negotiations with Japan at this time, while leaving the entire question open for negotiation between the two countries at any later date that may appear suitable to them.

At the same time the Chinese note will, it is stated, refute the statements made in Mr. Obata's recent memorandum to the effect that "the Chinese Foreign Minister expressed to him his ardent desire to see the concrete project by Japan couched in just and reasonable terms as would simultaneously be deemed fair on all hands," and that "subsequently the authorities concerned in China confidentially presented to the Japanese Government a certain project in regard to this question and later expressed, although unofficially, their readiness to open negotiations with Japan. The Foreign Office's reply to these statements from Tokio will be an effort to whitewash both the Government and its officials.

SHEDS A LIGHT

The Peking edition of the Yi Shih Pao (Social Welfare) in commenting on the Shantung question throws a light on both of the above points that is correct, according to the investigations made by the Yi Shih Pao.

"While, according to persons close to the Government, it is true that Dr. Yen expressed to Mr. Obata—before the latter's departure for Japan last Spring the hope that an amicable settlement of the Shantung Question could be reached, this statement was made by Mr. Yen purely in his private capacity and not as Minister for Foreign Affairs of the Chinese Government.

"With regard to the allegation that the Chinese Government confidentially conveyed to the Japanese Government a proposal concerning the settlement of the Shantung Question and that the Japanese memorandum of September 7 was drafted after taking that plan into full consideration, it is pointed out that the Chinese Government desired repeatedly to bring Shantung up for settlement before the League of Nations and that, in pursuance of this end, it had drawn up a tentative plan, embodying eight principles for such a settlement.

"The Japanese Government more than once expressed its desire to know China's views regarding Shantung, and in a private conversation between Mr. Yu, a Councillor of the Ministry of War, and General Banzai, Japanese Military Advisor to the Chinese Government, it appears that Mr. Yu disclosed China's eight proposals to his Japanese guest. Since, however, both Mr. Yu and General Banzai were in no position to represent their respective Governments, the Japanese contention as put forward in the memorandum of October 19 must be regarded as untenable.

"It is understood in this connection that the Chinese Government is especially dissatisfied because General Banzai being in the service of the Ministry of war, was not entitled to disclose China's plans to the Japanese Government; and it is stated that the Foreign Office will touch upon this point in its coming reply to Mr. Obata."

With spaces allotted to the exhibitors, the latter are now busily planning the decoration and arrangement of their spaces. Yesterday the exhibitors visited Verdun Gardens, where the show buildings elicited exclamations of surprise. Most of the exhibitors had no idea of the magnitude of the scale on which Chairman White, of the buildings committee, had been proceeding.

In a few more days the buildings will be entirely under roof, after which it is planned to proceed with the interior arrangements, including decorations, day and night, in order to insure the opening of the show on time. The committee is determined that the show shall be opened on schedule, on the afternoon of November 26, and that every exhibit shall be in place by that date.

The buildings that are being put up for the automobile show are said by contractors and others familiar with such work to be three times as large as any bamboo and rush mat buildings heretofore erected in Shanghai. These buildings are interesting from an engineering standpoint and have excited much comment on the part of architects and contractors.

Doctor Hodgkin Tells How Christianity May Be Applied To Politics

"Christianity—Can it be Applied to Politics?" was the subject of the lecture given at the Lyceum theater yesterday by Dr. H. T. Hodgkin as the third of the series he is giving this week at the theater on the general subject of "The Salvaging of Civilisation."

That this lecture series is making a popular appeal is seen in the fact that yesterday's audience was larger than at any of the preceding lectures and it is noteworthy that many of those present were Chinese. Mr. Skinner-Turner, Chief Judge of the British Supreme Court, who acted as Chairman announced at the conclusion of the address that it had been urged that Doctor Hodgkin's lectures should be published and he said that means to do this had been made available. In this connection he said Doctor Hodgkin had said that he is now engaged in writing a volume containing most of the matter being presented in his lectures and this will be issued within the year.

NO COMPLETE SOLUTION

In introducing his subject yesterday the speaker said that he did not wish to suggest that what he had to offer could be regarded as a complete solution. He defined the term politics and discussed at some length the general attitude toward any combination of politics and religion and he pointed out in this connection that such a combination could result in a particularly dangerous form of fanaticism. He mentioned the Irish question as an illustration.

In discussing the application of particular principles to politics he pointed out the great difficulty of the statesman representing a whole country or a considerable portion of the public in determining how far he might or should go in imposing his principles in his public actions.

While the speaker said that the dictum that 'the world cannot be made better by an Act of Parliament' is misleading, and he enlarged on this thought at some length, he added that something more than legislation is needful for the progress of humanity. It was necessary, he said, that the atmosphere and the spirit of righteousness should actuate the whole people.

FAITH WAVERS

He pointed out that there had been a slump in the faith of the people in present-day political machinery and he referred to the situation in Europe as a cause that has made people question if present-day political sagacity is adequate to meet the problems of government.

The speaker reviewed the grounds of criticism of politics pointing out that present day methods tended to place power ultimately in the hands of a small group, that these methods are devious, fraught with delays and commonly are based on compromise and, finally, that they are coercive in that the minority proportion on any question is forced by the majority to accept policies and decisions. As an effect of this he spoke of courses adopted by extremists who turned to 'direct action' or to revolution.

As a needful element he suggested that consciousness of great ideals should be awakened and that appeal should be made to the best in men. Mentioning a number of examples he pointed out that some of the finest things accomplished in history had been brought about in this way.

POINTS OUT NEEDS

Not only unity of a people must be achieved but international unity must be arrived at, he said. He asserted that a sympathy and understanding between nations should be fostered and along this line he said a force was growing in Germany of a kind that the world needs. On the anniversary of the declaration of war he told of a vast demonstration in Berlin—a 'no more war' demonstration.

He reviewed several historial instances in which arrangements arrived at and based upon high ideals stand as monuments of progress and he urged further undertaking of 'adventurous experiment' of this sort between nations.

"Christianity—Can it Be Applied to Race Problems?" is to be the subject of today's lecture at the Lyceum at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon at which Mr. A. Brooke-Smith, Chairman of the Municipal Council will be Chairman.

The British Government had received an assurance from the French Government that the negotiations were confined to these questions.

Divorce Action Concluded; Decision Comes On Friday

The divorce action brought by Mrs. Lena Singer against William James Singer, the first proceedings of the kind to be heard in a British Court in China, was concluded yesterday, Chief Judge Skinner Turner of the Supreme Court reserving judgment until tomorrow morning.

In the concluding testimony in the case the respondent accused two of the witnesses for the petitioner with perjury and made a sweeping denial of the allegations of adultery and cruelty upon which the suit is based.

Mrs. Singer, cross-examined by Mr. R. F. C. Master, who appeared for the intervener, Mrs. G. Archer, repeated her testimony to the effect that she had witnessed her husband's misconduct with Mrs. Archer. It had occurred in the Singer home on the night Mrs. Archer, following the death of her child, had been invited to stay in the house.

Dr. J. E. Murray testified that Mrs. Singer had been frequently to see him in the summer of 1916 and had shown him bruises which she said were inflicted by her husband. Replying to questions by the respondent the witness denied that he had confused Mrs. Singer with her sister or any other person. Dr. E. G. Gauntlett told of performing an operation on Mrs. Singer in December of last year and of finding her, following a visit from her husband, in a state of great mental excitement and physical collapse. In reply to the Court he said that in a visit of only two minutes—which is the respondent's claim of its duration—only some serious occurrence could have caused such serious effects. Mrs. Singer's allegation was that her husband had pressed her against the bed, placing his hands near the wound left by the operation and severely injuring her.

Mrs. Edith Grace Smith testified that on Empire Day she and the petitioner were proceeding along Broadway when the respondent caught hold of his wife's ricsha, held up his hand in a threatening manner and called her vile names. This concluded the case for the petitioner.

The respondent then went into the witness box and denied his wife's charges in toto. There had been no trouble on the night of the marriage, he declared, and the allegations of subsequent cruelty he stated were false. He considered that Dr. Murray in his evidence had made an irresponsible statement for a responsible man and he denied the truth of Mrs. Smith's statement, giving as his explanation for it that she was in collusion with his wife. He admitted to being a moderate drinker but denied that he had ever been a heavy drinker. He said he thought fit for their three children's good that they be given into his care, but admitted when questioned that he is not now in a position to support them, or even himself.

The charge of adultery with Mrs. Archer he denied positively and also that involving a Japanese amah and a Chinese wash amah and declared that he had never lived with a Japanese woman in Hongkong. When he returned from Africa, where he had gone with a labor battalion, his wife refused to live with him he said and from June 1918 to June 1920 monthly sums of money which he sent to her were returned.

Mr. Master called Mrs. Archer to the witness box, where she denied that there had been any familiarity between her and the respondent. Her husband testified that he had heard of no impropriety.

Counsel, Mr. Master for the intervener and Mr. Tycho Wing for the petitioner then summed up and the Judge stated that judgment would be given Friday at 10 a.m.

ORIENT QUESTION HOLDS FRANCE BY INDO-CHINA DUTY

(French Wireless Through Reuter)

Paris, Oct. 25.—The Avenir, emphasising the remarkable position held by Indo-China in the Pacific, insists that it is impossible for France not to interest herself in the problems of the Far East. It is on account of Indo-China, through her and for her, that France must regard the Pacific problem, for all the other questions, military naval and economic which will be brought up at the Washington Conference, interest in some degree the development and security of Indo-China and vice-versa.

It is in Indo-China that the key to many of the controversial problems is to be found. The Avenir expresses the conviction that M. Albert Sarraut, the Minister of the Colonies, will bear this in mind when he is taking part in the Washington Conference, to which the Premier conceived the happy idea of inviting him together with some of the most qualified experts on French expansion in Asia.

As a measure to prevent further depreciation in the value of silver the Chinese Chamber of Commerce has suggested to the government that minting of silver coins be stopped for a ten day period. Children Cry for Fletcher's
CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations. It has one great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.

It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over 30 years has proven its worth. Try it.

Save the Babies.

Infantry mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realise that of all the children born in ivilised countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one quarter die before they reach one year, thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tincture and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.

Smiles from the Mixed Court

The eccentric properties of the boomerang, thanks to Messrs. Rand, McNally and other geographers, are well known. They were brought home in particularly striking style to Li Bong-jih at the Mixed Court yesterday.

Night before last Li bounced pantingly into Wayside Station and made hysterical deposition to the effect that he had just been robbed of thirteen gleaming golden sovereigns which he had carried to the Yuenfong Road wharf for the purpose of buying old iron from shipping persons who have to do with such materials.

Having made his report and received assurance of police assistance, Li dropped into a tea shop. At a nearby table he saw two men whom he recognised as members of the gang which had separated him from his money. In the disturbance which ensued much furniture and crockery was demolished, but in the end the policemen attracted by the demonstration combed the two gangsters out of the debris, added a third whom Li pointed out, and marched them to the charge room.

Li appeared in the role of complainant at the Mixed Court yesterday and again recited in plaintive tones the tale of the thirteen sovereigns; but he altered his original version to the extent of stating that he had carried the money to the wharf to buy second-hand planks, boards and tubs from the chief mates of steamers. These chief mates, he said, were of a unanimous disinclination to accept money locally regarded as legal tender and insisted on Western gold.

The police, meanwhile, had pushed their investigation further than Li had calculated on. An old-iron transaction involving coins of universal usage had intrigued their curiosity. So far as their experience went, such coins were employed chiefly in barter-ing along the waterfront for a commodity the importation of which has been prohibited since 1917—the iniquitous and over-powering ya pi, which sizzles nightly over the bowls of ten thousand pipes in the Settlements.

Detective Sergeant Jimmy Quayle got into the box to inform the Assessor and Magistrate that all the indications were that the looting of Li was an incident in the rivalry prevailing between two gangs of opium buyers who operate in the Wayside water-front area.

The Court went into executive session among itself for about thirty seconds and then, in good old third act fashion, dismissed the charges against the three alleged robbers, directed the police to take the trio, include Li and charge the four of them with trafficking in opium. Which the same will be done.

Terrible Wound from Abdomen to Hip

Our portrait is of Mrs. M. MACE, of 97, Brettell Lane, Stourbridge, England, who writes:

"For 8 years I suffered with a terrible wound stretching from the abdomen to the right hip; during that time I tried doctors' and patent medicines innumerable, but without success. At length I was persuaded to try 'Clarke's Blood Mixture,' and after taking the first bottle began to see an improvement, which has continued, with the result that my wound is healed, and I now have no pain." In a further recent letter Mrs. Mace writes: "I am happy to say that there has been no recurrence of my complaint and consider my case a very satisfactory cure."

HENLI REGATTA SATURDAY AND SUNDAY PROMISES THE FINEST OF RIVER SPORTS

Nearly Every Contest Even-Up; Keenest Interest On International Fours, And S.V.C. Race; Younger Men Are Developing Fast For Spring Racing

The Fall Regatta which will be held at Henli Saturday and Sunday promises to be the best autumn Henli event held for some seasons past if preliminary enthusiasm and interest of the participants count for anything. The spirit of the crews, their faithfulness to drilling practice work, and the keen rivalry which has been developed all are promised by those in a position to know to send the boats to the starting line with nearly if not all of their crews' faults corrected, ready and fit for a fine struggle.

The interest of the entrants in the training is not less marked than the progress which the men have made in taking up the advice offered by the older men. And another feature of the regatta is the progress made by the younger men. They will have their chance at the rowing this week end, and it is predicted that they will make good, winners and losers, all.

Chief interest now centers in the S.V.C. fours, and in the International trial fours. The Corps draws its support because of the large number of men following the success of their crews, while the latter takes its place as a feature on the program because of its international character, and because there are but two nations competing, America and England. The Hong fours event, however, is also drawing a large share of attention.

INT'L 4'S CLASSIC

The International event perhaps will see the finest rowing. Both America and England have experienced and strong men in their shells. America has a four heavier than the British, though the latter are all good oars, and will be well up at the finish. America will have Schmidt, Doughty, Phillips and Neprude in their boat, while Atkinson, Goldman, Coulcher and Nash will row for England.

The S. V. C. event will see a tight race. The Machine Gun Company which up until the last week has been ranked as an outstanding favorite will have to go some to beat the Artillery and the American company which latterly have shown fine improvement in their work. The American company's improvement has been so great in fact, that many are now conceding the event to them. The Customs however also are coming up and will not be far off when the finish line is crossed.

The teams will row as follows:

American Co., Schmidt, Doughty, Phillips, Schlobohm.

Artillery, Evans, Bourchier, Day, Ford.

Customs, Ensor, Hoskins, Neprude, Hope.

Machine Gun Co., Campbell Atkinson, Brown, Goldman.

HONG 4'S HAVE SUPPORT

In the Hong fours the finish will be a pip and tuck affair. The Customs rowing practically the same crew that represents them in the S. V. C. event have a good stroke in Hope. The Elec. Dept., S. M. C. with Evans who lead the English 8 last spring at stroke and the A. P. C. with Wallace, who once stroked a Tientsin team against Shanghai in an interport, both are good crews. The latter is a heavier and stronger crew, working well together, and will take a lot of beating in the event.

The Griffin events have a big following among the younger oarsmen and their supporters. Wattons and Laurie-Smith's boats are rated for the best places in the fours, with Roach's crew third. The former has been out regularly at hard training and have improved in their work so that they stand to win. The second boat however is coming on in development and smoothness and should be in at the finish. Roach's boat is filled with good men and will be well up in the race.

The pairs for youngsters should go to the Doughty and Rehmbong couple, who have taken much conscientious practice, and offer a very strong combination. Many rowing men however are doubting their ability to win.

Large interest centers also in the Junior Fours. Hop's Crew, almost the same as the Customs boat personnel is fancied. The second boat however stroked by Johnson won the Griffin Fours last spring and will not be beaten easily.

Wallace, Ford and Campbell will be seen at the front at the finish for the sculling championship, though Schewerzer, an old scull from Switzerland will show strong. Wallace and Campbell both have had big experience and Ford was the winner of last regatta's Junior sculls.

The club eights with three crews entered will see a pretty competition, calling for style and control. Three boats are entered: Campbell's, Neprude's and Hope's. It will be a hard race for the crew that has not practiced. With the three strokes and crews evenly matched the race will be interesting.

The Bumping Race might go to Campbell but he will have to go some to keep out of the way of Schlobohm and Jones. At last Saturday's trials Campbell finished at the head of the river, after bumping Jones. Schlobohm was third, but he gave way to Evans. The four men will fight it out.

Accommodations at Henli will be made comfortable for spectators. In spite of the high water and the unfavorable weather conditions the lawn and the bundings have been filled in with cinders so that good dry firm standing room will be available for those watching the racing.

Rotary Plans For Regatta

A special train will leave Shanghai North at 8:20 a.m. Sunday arriving Henli 9:24. for the regatta of the Shanghai Rowing Club.

A special first class dining car will be attached to this train and will remain at the Henli siding all day for the Rotary Club Members.

The morning will be devoted to sports which Tommy Knight is in charge of and in the afternoon the Rotary Club hope to enter a crew for the Visitors' Race in the Regatta.

The special car will return to Shanghai at 7.13 arriving at 8.10. Return tickets $3.00 each, children half fare, may be obtained from J. J. Evans. It is hoped as many as possible will bring their families and make this excursion a happy one.

CARNELL DOES HAT TRICK FOR POLICE IN ST JOHN'S MATCH; WINS BY 3-2 SCORE

Quayle And Other Old Timers Back In Game Give New Strength To S.M.P.; S.F.C. Elect Officers; Football Association Schedule Revised

Carnell did the "hat trick" for the Shanghai Municipal Police yesterday afternoon in the match against St. John's University, by scoring three successive goals for a win by a score of 3-2. It was the first time that Carnell had played center forward for the Police. He had usually stood at half back or at outside right.

The Police in the St. John's match showed promising form with Quayle again in the game playing in his usual good style and a youngster Dockety who joined the force less than a month ago showing exceptional promise as inside right.

The game was close throughout. It was the first of the season in which St. John's had gotten together. The play was fast and clean.

The police played H. and W. Hotchkiss, G. E. and A. J. Knight, Warwood, Dockety, Sharman, McDonald, Munson, Young and Quayle.

S. F. C. MEETING

At the meeting of the Shanghai Football Club held at the Rowing Club last night Mr. A. H. Leslie was re-elected treasurer, and the following were ballotted as committee: Messrs. W. J. Brown, W. C. G. Clifford, J. W. Weeks, J. E. R. Harris, A. J. Stewart, E. P. Graham and D. Campbell, the last two as ballotting committee. Sir E. D. Fraser and Messrs. E. C. Pearce and R. Grimshaw, vice presidents, were re-elected. Prospects for the year were considered bright. A team will probably be sent to Hankow during the Chinese New Year for an interport match.

S.V.C. MEET TONIGHT

Sunday afternoon soccer football games are the object of the meeting of members of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps at 5 Jinkee Road at 5:15 o'clock this afternoon. A preliminary meeting of members supporting the Corps league promised enthusiastic support to such games.

Each of the units in the Corps are reported to have a number of players who would make strong playing organisations and six full teams are expected to be formed at the meeting.

Officers of the Corps are supporting the idea because of the increased athletic activity it will bring out among the volunteers.

Major H. W. Pilcher is acting as chairman of the preliminary arrangements committee.

The League program opens on Saturday with the following matches.

Police v S. F. C. on the Police ground. Referee: Mr. W. C. G. Clifford.

S. R. C. v St. Xaviers, on the S. R. C. ground. Referee: Mr. F. R. Gabbutt.

Portuguese S. A. v Marine Engineers, on Hongkew Park. Referee: Mr. W. T. Bisset.

SECOND DIVISION

S. Public School v S. R. C. Reserves, on Polo ground. Referee: Mr. C. R. S. Cooper.

S. F. C. Reserves v Portuguese S. A. Reserves, on S. F. C.

Four Championships Yet To Be Run To Be Decided Upon At Meeting

Representatives of the Shanghai Harriers Club and the Municipal Police will meet today at the North Szechuen Station to make arrangements for the running off next month of our Shanghai championship track events.

The meeting is due to the abandonment of the annual Police sports and the Harriers meet this this Autumn.

The two organisations will discuss the advisability of running off the four championship events in view of the fact that both clubs have already decided to hold their meets over until next spring.

The events to be run off are the 10-yards championship, for THE CHINA PRESS Cup: the 440-yards championship, for the Bradish Cup; the 880-yards and the 220-yards runs.

The first two are Police features and the latter are held under the auspices of the Harriers Club.

Heller At Olympic

There is much speculation in Shanghai just now as to the form which Mr. Heller's sensation, "Sawing Through a Woman" will take when he appears at the Olympic Theater tomorrow night. There are even those who have suggested in all seriousness that Mr. Heller's dark designs be frustrated. Mr. Heller does not claim for himself occult or supernatural powers, but he does claim to have found a solution of a problem by physical means, the solution of which has been thought hitherto to have been only possible by the use of the black arts. The old story of the search of the alchemists for a means of passing one solid body through another without the disintegration of either, would now appear to be a fait accompli, in the light of Mr. Heller's ingenuity. It is always wise to take these stage miracles with a grain of salt, and although of course it is not suggested that he expounds a new science, there is little doubt that he will startle Shanghai audiences, as already startled audiences in New York and London.

ENGLISH EIGHT BEATS WORLD AT TIENTSIN REGATTA

Second Day Of Fall Water Meet Ends First Meet Since Fall Of 1914

The Tientsin Rowing Club's first official Regatta since 1914 was held on Saturday and Sunday afternoons on the Haiho and from all standpoints may be said to have been a highly successful affair. The weather was ideal.

The oarsmanship considering the lack of practice for several years, was fairly good, but there is no reason why, with the past summer's training, it should not have been better. Fundamental faults, such as "washing out," "dredging," "rowing round the oar," "rowing out of the boat" and most of all bad "coxing," were too much the rule in the two days' racing and ought not to be so obvious after two or three months practice. However, the material is good and with careful and conscientious coaching, great things may be expected next season.

Hat Trick Wins For Police Team

ground. Referee: Mr. C. Marshall.

Customs R. C. v H. M. Navy, at Hongkew Park. Referee: Mr. R. R. Jones.

Jewish R. C. v Rangers F. C. Electricity Dept., a bye.

This program is slightly rearranged from the original schedule owing to the Customs withdrawing their entry for the 1st League and the late application of the Navy to enter the second division.

All matches will commence at 3 o'clock sharp and referees are requested to enforce this.

Home teams are mentioned first and secretaries are reminded that they must attend to the ground arrangements, gear, etc.

All clubs are particularly requested to see that their teams turn out in uniform colors. Referees have instructions in this important matter.

The Rangers F. C. are unable to fulfil their engagement with the Jewish R. C. this Saturday owing to the Henli Regatta, and the Jewish R. C. will probably meet, in a friendly match, the college team of St. John's University at the College grounds, Jessfield.

Irish Parley Is Cut To Committee

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 25.—It is learned that the discussions of the small committee of the Irish Conference, mentioned yesterday, do not resemble the proceedings of a mere sub-committee.

It appears that the Premier yesterday, recognising the delicacy and difficulty of the situation, suggested that it might b helpful if negotiations were continued by the smallest committee possible, saying that his experience was that the larger the committee the smaller was the chance of rapid decision.

The Conference readily adopted the Premier's suggestion hence at the meetings today and yesterday there were only two representatives on each side.

COMMITTEE IS SITTING

London, Oct. 26.—It is officially announced that the full meeting of the Irish Conference has been postponed as the committee, mentioned yesterday, is still sitting.

Chinese Chambers Hold Last Session

The last session of the National Union of Chambers of Commerce was held yesterday at the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce when 45 representatives were present. Mr. C. C. Nieh, its chairman, presided.

After this, the chairman gave a short speech to conclude the session.

CARTHORSE FOR PICKED

Tientsin, Oct. 24.—Boroon, Tients'n champion much more open than ever. Carthorse was never so fit and is a hot favorite. Gobi Star looks in excellent condition and will probably run into a place. Meteor is a picture, and it should take a mighty good pony to beat him. Hunt's Deedeeaskh is good if he can stay it. Mr. Watson's Red Gauntlet is a favorite outsider and if looks count should be worth a gamble.

Snowstorm is expected to picture in the event. Griffins, good as they may be, can hardly be expected to stand up to old ponies such as those mentioned. The best tips therefore are: Carthorse, Meteor and Gobi Star.

Adrienne Lachamp

Miss Adrienne Lachamp, who delighted two audiences by her dancing at the Lyceum Theater last week, will give a repeat performance at the same theater on November 5, when Mr. Mario Paci, leader of the Shanghai Municipal Orchestra, will direct the program.

Miss Lachamp will give a selection of the numbers which most pleased her previous audiences and in addition will give four new numbers, including an interpretation of the Lohengrin Wedding March.

Plans Being Made For Observation Of Thanksgiving Day

Plans are being formulated for the observance of Thanksgiving Day, on November 24, by members of the local American community.

A meeting of the committee in charge was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mr. [illegible] Cunningham, American Consul-General, to discuss the matter and though no definite program or place for the celebration was decided upon, committees on arrangement were named and it is expected that a definite announcement will be made shortly.

Those present at the meeting were Mrs. P. J. Raven, Captain V. Olsen, Dr. S. J. Woodbridge, Rev. Luther Freeman, Lieutenant-Commander H. B. Ransdell, Consul M. F. Perkins, and Mrs. V. G. Lyman. Miss L. M. Wilkinson acted as secretary. Committees on arrangements were appointed as follows:—Program Committee, Mrs. Raven and Mr. Lyman; Committee on Place, Mr. Perkins; Committee on Decorations, Mrs. Raven and Commander Ransdell; Committee on the Speaker, Mr. Cunningham; Committee on Music, Rev. Freeman appointed to request Mr. L. C. Perry to act. It was decided to hold the service at 5:45 p.m.

SMOKERS FINED

A widow arrested as the proprietress of an opium smoking establishment at 71 Hsi[illegible] Loong was ordered to pay a fine of $50 or go to jail for one month by the Mixed Court yesterday. Mr. Luyt, appearing for the defendant, pleaded that a fine be assessed in view of the fact that the woman had no other means of livelihood and that she had conducted the place on the lines of a club. Of twelve smokers arrested when the place was raided two paid fines of $3 each and the others forfeited $10 bail money each by not appearing in court.

FOCH CRITICISED WHILE CASTELNAU IS EULOGISED

Publication Of Articles In Paris Paper Raises Awkward Controversy

Paris, Sept. 10.—An awkward controversy has arisen, due to the publication of a series of articles in the Revue des Deux Mondes lauding Gen. Castelnau, and tending to show that Marshal Foch's generalship was not always unquestionable, and it is expected that high military officials will be taking sides for and against the national favorite.

According to Gen. Castelnau's Boswell Marshal Foch during the early days of the war while commanding the Twentieth Corps at Morhange, failed to obey orders and as a result an immense valley fell into the hands of the Germans. There also were important artillery losses while three French divisions spoiled the general plan of attack by a forced retreat.

This happened at a time when Marshal Foch was under Castelnau's orders. The latter distributed the Fifteenth and Sixteenth corps in position to throw the Germans back on the Sarrburg-Bensodorf Railroad, while on the right three divisions in reserve took up protective positions at Nanty. Marshal Foch's orders are said to have been to remain between the two forces ready to repulse an anticipated German thrust from Metz, as well as to support Castelnau's other two corps.

"On the morning of August 20," says Victor Giraud, a Parisian publicist and well known as Gen. Castelnau's closest newspaper friend, "Foth, commanding the Twentieth Corps, was carried away by the ardor of battle and threw his forces into the attack on the heights of Marthil, although he uncovered his left flank." The writer does not cite the orders definitely, however, and the public is being left to suppose that confirmation is to be obtained from Gen. Castelnau, although the latter's and does not once appear in the new controversy.

Gen. Varraux is the latest to come to the defense of Marshal Foch, the latter not taking advantage of his prerogative to reply accorded by the French law.

Gen. Varraux minimises the value of M. Giraud's criticism despite his close relations with Gen. Castelnau, and is pointing out that it would be an easy matter for military writers to obtain the documents necessary to uphold their theses if they really were inspired by a desire for historical accuracy. Gen. Varraux believes that the War Office could quiet the dispute by revealing that Foch's orders did not actually prohibit him from using his own initiative if he saw an advantage, and is asking his fellow generals conversant with the Morhange retreat, in the interest of fairness to state whether Marshal Foch had received verbal, telephonic or written orders countering those originally given him by Gen. Castelnau.

U. S. Court Deals With Japanese As Incorporators

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, Oct. 26.—The Superior Court announces that it will consider whether Japanese can compel Washington State to issue articles of incorporation on the grounds that they are American citizens.

The case arose out of the refusal of the Secretary of Washington State to issue articles to two Japanese, claiming that their naturalisation was void.

Scenes Outside Dail Hall When Irishmen Drafted A Reply To Lloyd George

This is the eager crowd waiting outside while the Dail drafted its reply to Lloyd George's peace offer. The session was secret. It has been said that only the memorable session of the Continental Congress, in Philadelphia, on July 4, 1776, has been of equal consequence to the British Empire. August 16, the day of this session, may become the Irish Fourth of July.

Millionaire Sailor Gets Many Letters

As Poueche Cannot Read Or Write He Finds His New Life Is No Sinecure

Paris, Sept. 11.—Poueche—who says his true name is more high sounding, being Pouche de la Nicolle—a Basque sailor from Bayonne, who is said to have inherited 38,000,000 francs from a long forgotten uncle in South America, is beginning to think that being a millionaire, even if only prospective, is no sinecure.

Poueche cannot write or read. And now he is being flooded by many dozens of letters daily. It is no joke, says Poueche to be obliged to go through all these strange hieroglyphics, even when you have a secretary. And Poueche's secretary is not much of an expert at deciphering handwriting anyhow. He is the owner of a little saloon where Poueche has rooms in Dunkirk.

His rooms consist of a little bedroom upstairs and a large reception room downstairs, which, owing to the shortage of housing accommodations in Dunkirk Poueche shares with his saloon-keeper-secretary and the bar.

Like celebrities Poueche lives the greater part of his time under the eye of the highly interested public at the bar. Nonchalantly reclining with the stub of a clay pipe between his teeth, the future millionaire listens with a blase air while the saloonkeeper laboriously reads out one letter after another.

These come mostly from people who express a profound and touching faith in the unlimited goodness of Poueche's heart. They just know he is not the boy to refuse a helping hand to those in trouble. Many are written by women who are convinced that only they can assure Poueche's future happiness—a large percentage of these are widows. The other writers are ready to handle the sailor's business interests.

One young girl says she is so pretty that Poueche could not possibly do better than to adopt her as a daughter. She has known all her life that she was born to be a millionaire's child. But the old sea-dog does not look convinced.

Between puffs of his pipe and gulps of beer he keeps up a run of comment on the letters. On hearing a widow living in the devastated districts would like a small loan to replace furniture wrecked by shell fire, Poueche says to the saloonkeeper-secretary: "Do I know her," drawing a hum of approval from the interested audience. When one listener on hearing the young girl's appeal for adoption expressed the opinion she was an intriguer the old sailor dryly asks, "do you know her?" causing a general laugh, which does not, however, greatly move him.

Meanwhile Poueche has not received any money nor any further news from the Bayonne lawyer. Indeed, the people of Dunkirk are beginning to show signs of doubt. What if the whole story were only a practical joke played on the old sailor, they ask. That would be a cruel tragedy indeed. The hero however, remains quite unmoved. When questioned he expresses complete ignorance of the true facts and says, "When I handle the bank notes I will tell you more about it."

Pending this great event he is also making plans to marry. The choice has fallen on a Bordeaux landlady whose name, however, Poueche does not quite remember. But "she is worth her weight in gold," which being the case he is seriously thinking of sending her twenty-five francs as soon as he having a royal good time. He is can recollect the correct way of spelling her name.

40 PERCENT DROP SHOWN IN JAPAN EXPORT TRADE

Big Slump Occurred In Last Nine Months, Report Indicates

Tokio, Oct. 12.—Japan's foreign commerce during the three quarters ended September 30 registered quite heavy declines beyond 40 percent. But it is contended by the official report issued yesterday by the ministry of Agriculture and Commerce that in the quantity of commodities as exported or imported not much decrease was witnessed.

The exports of the three quarters amounted to Yen 873,525,000 while the period's imports were valued at Yen 1,169,097,000. The total was up to Yen 2,042,622,000. The adverse balance reached Yen 295,572,000. Compared with the corresponding period last year, says yesterday's official report, the decrease in exports was up to 46.2 percent. The falling off in imports amounted to 43.8 percent. In the total there was a decrease of 43.8 percent. The adverse balance at the same time fell off by 24.8 percent.

SEPTEMBER SHOWS GAIN

In the months of the quarters exports registered a falling off every month amounting to 36 percent to 57 percent was indicated. In the import trade August witnessed a gain of 7 percent. In September also there was a gain of 9 percent. In all other months there were decreases ranging between 30 percent and 58 percent. Every one of those months again registered import excesses notwithstanding the public hope to the contrary.

In analysing the period's foreign trade according to continents, says yesterday's official report, it is found that the decrease was general. In trade with Asia there was a decline of 42 percent in exports and of 48 percent in imports. Trade with Europe finds a decrease of 80 percent in exports and that of 14 percent in imports. In the case of the North American trade exports saw a decrease of 38 percent, imports having seen a decline of 45 percent. Export to South America witnessed a decline of 89 percent while imports saw a drop of 92 percent. Trade with Africa finds a decrease of 82 percent in exports and of 87 percent in imports. Trade with other countries sees a decrease of 68 percent in exports and of 55 percent in imports. In further analysing trade according to countries it is found that in the export trade only shipments to Germany increased, trade with all other countries having fallen off. In the import trade there was a general decline except in trade with the Straits Settlements, Asiatic Russia, Siam, Germany, Belgium, Switzerland, Russia, Portugal, Canada, Mexico and Peru.

COPPER AND BEER HOPEFUL

Of the 28 principal commodities on the export list only copper and beer registered any gains, says the report. All others registered declines. Among the rest, cotton cloth, raw silk, silk cloth, cotton yarns, cotton hosiery, refined sugar, braids, matches, toys, glass and glass ware, waste silk and tea. The cause for this comprehensive decline can be found, it is stated by the report, in the fact that whereas world commence was still prosperous during the earlier parts of last year the present period was a period of the worldwide reaction. Another factor which must not be overlooked is that the price of commodities generally was much lower than in the same period last year. In the following list of commodities it is noted that quantities were larger while prices were lower: silk tissues except habutai, cotton yarns, coal, raw silk, copper and rice. The average rate of decline was 46 percent in quantities and 62 percent in values.

tion in Shanghai and in China at large will be seriously handicapped, if it is held back because of the lack of funds to support the necessary Chinese workers. Throughout China new Associations are clamoring for organisation. These must be encouraged and funds forthcoming to see the year's work materialise.

HOSTEL NEEDS ENLARGING

Not only will the work of the Association be held marking time in not being able to continue its work in the progressive and expanding path it forged a year ago, but also, the Chinese girls who are entering the business world will be handicapped. The hostel which the Association runs at 11a Quinsan Road as a safe home for Chinese business girls from out of the city, is already full to overflowing. No more girls can be accommodated until funds are secured to enlarge the equipment of the hostel. This means that until the hostel is able to accommodate more girls, business firms which are using more and more Chinese girl employes will have to limit themselves because the girls cannot find suitable living quarters near their work.

DON'T DELAY DONATIONS

The volunteer workers have gallantly done their part. It was only at the last rally of the workers there flashed out a warning that some of the friends of the Association were still holding back their subscription cards, thinking no doubt to fill in their subscription at a later date. The workers wish to petition those subscribers through these columns to assist during these remaining days of the campaign, to help to reach the quota set by Friday. This can easily be done if each intending subscriber will send in his cheque or compradore slip to the campaign headquarters at 11a Quinsan Road. Those who are new arrivals in the city or who through some other cause have not received subscription cards, will be greatly boosting the cause if they will enclose their check in an envelope and send it in, a receipt for the same will be directly returned to the giver.

WORK IS VITAL ONE

There cannot be the slightest doubt that the work of the Young Women's Christian Association is a vital one in the education and advance of Chinese girls and women.. There are many features of the work which would be of immense interest to the casual observer. The tourist would here see Chinese women studying that they may be useful citizens of the Republic. The National Training School, an ever enlarging institution which cannot produce enough graduates to fill all the positions waiting both in government and mission schools, is one of the best examples of the work of the Y.W.C.A. In this school girls are being trained that they may go out into the highways and byways of China and teach health education to the Chinese people at large. If the traveler would but take a trip to this school the promise of its students would be a lasting impression of new China to carry home. Personal guides to the school will be gladly supplied from the national headquarters at 3 Hongkong Road, or at the local Association at 11a Quinsan Road. Both branches have telephones and will supply guides at a moment's notice.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

October 26, 1921.

Spot and forward bar silver were each down 1d. in London yesterday.

The New York price declined to 68½ cents and the London-New York cross rate is 395¼.

The official quotations today are the same as those ruling last night and the market was steady to firm throughout the day, particularly for near delivery.

Business in Sterling was done as high as 3/11 for October and 3/9½ for December, and in Gold Dollars at 77¼ for October and 75¼ for December.

The market closed steady with buyers and sellers at these quotations.

China sold silver in London yesterday and the market there is reported to have closed steady after the fall.

New York, however, reports the market there as being very weak with silver being offered in large supply and no buyers.

HONGKONG SHARES

Messrs. Moxon and Taylor of Hongkong write as follows in the weekly share report dated Hongkong, October 21.

We have again had an active market during the past week, and some stocks show a considerable advance. A good cash business has been done, as well as a fair amount forward.

Hongkong Banks have been in good demand on the fall in exchange.

Rubber continues stagnant.

The following are the principal alterations since last week.

Hongkong Banks:—(Old shares have changed hands from $685 to $700. New shares are on offer at $685.

Cantons.—Are still wanted at $405, with few if any shares coming out.

Unions.—Are wanted at $218.

Hongkong Docks.—Have weakened and close with sellers at $195.

China Sugars.—Are quiet after a few shares being done at $190

Cements.—Have had a further smart rise, and after being done at $26¼ cash, and $27 December close slightly easier.

Hongkong Lands.—Have been the medium of a considerable business at rising prices, and close firm with buyers at $209.

Humphreys.—Are steady at $10½.

Shanghai Docks.—Have been done at Tls. 122½, and close quiet at Tls. 122.

Shell Transports.—Have declined considerably during the week and the same may be said of Mexican Eagles, closing respectively at $5 –, and £3.2.6.

Our London friends advise us that the market is weak owing to Holland selling, due to the collapse of the reichmark.

Exchange Market

Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand write as follows in the Exchange circular for week ending yesterday:

Exchange:—The London price of silver at 39⅛d. is 1½ lower than last week. Our local bold dealers have been covering their oversold position in Gold and our rate for T.T. on London at 3s. 9d. shows a drop of 2. The fall in rates has brought out very little genuine cover in the shape of Export Bills and export remain dull.

We close with a steady to firm market principally on the shortness of silver and the approaching "end of the Month" settlement of Exchange among the Banks. With the Chinese and

When Driven Almost Crazy With Sciatica

This Man Found Permanent Cure In Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

A statement in a newspaper was of great service not long ago to Mr. Walter Mullis, a gentleman residing at 3 Beach Street, Peone, near Wellington, New Zealand. He had suffered with Sciatica badly for many months, had been treated by five different doctors, and at one time was nearly out of his mind with pain, when through reading how Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had cured similar cases to his own, he tried them, and thus found complete cure himself.

"My back got a wetting, and as a result Sciatica attacked my right leg," says Mr. Mullis. "What I went through is past belief; for months I was laid up crippled in bed. My leg shrank and aroused pains shot down my calf. Often at night my wife would be up warming flannels and getting me hot vinegar and mustard poultices. Once, nearly crazed with pain, I had to have sleeping draughts administered, or I would have gone out of my mind.

"I fell off in weight and appetite and was a wreck of my former self. It was an agony to get in or out of a chair. Five doctors treated me, but in spite of their efforts I suffered until I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills curing Sciatica. I tried them, and soon found the pains a trifle less; as I kept on steadily the improvement continued and I began to pick up in every way. At last every twinge disappeared, and I am glad to say that I have never had a relapse. I could not wish for better health than I have enjoyed since."

Because they purify and enrich the blood, give fresh tone to the nerves and build up the whole system, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are of immense value to sufferers from rheumatism, gout, lumbago, sciatica and neuralgia. Obtainable from medicine vendors everywhere, also post free $1.50 per bottle, $8 for 6 bottles, from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

Wireless At The Washington Conference

CHANCE information from the Japanese Foreign Office to the effect that the State Department at Washington has just notified that office that the latest addition to the agenda of the Washington Conference has been the issue of the Federal Wireless Contract, has occasioned much surprise among those responsible for the making and putting through of this deal.

Numerous protests have been delivered to China by both Japan and Great Britain on the gound that the Federal project contravenes the monopoly rights already granted their nationals by the Chinese government. The State Department at Washington and the American Legation at Peking have both been sounded by China, who has found herself in a difficult position, and by Japan and Britain, who have been pushing her; but it has been made plain by the American authorities that America's attitude is unequivocal support of the Federal people and insistence that China fulfil the contract made with them.

This attitude is taken upon two grounds: first; that the American government is only concerned with the fulfilment of China's contract with Americans entered into in good faith on the part of the latter; and China's possible embarrassments through the making of such a contract do not concern her; secondly that the monopoly rights claimed by the protesting parties are inconsistent with the policy of the Open Door, maintained by America and subscribed to by Japan and Great Britain.

Therefore, although Japanese and British protests placed with the Chinese Foreign Office still remain unanswered, the American government has made it clear that the affair, so far as America is concerned, is not one for further negotiation or discussion. Upon the strength of this, the contracting parties have issued bonds covering the cost of erection; land has been bought for plant sites, and material for their construction has already been shipped from New York and is now upon the high seas.

It is true, as the Japanese claim, that the former American Minister to Peking once stated that the issue should be the proper subject of a discussion between Japan, Great Britain, America and China. It is not true, however, that the American government has ever admitted that such discussion could be allowed to result in the abrogation of the Federal contract, which America, that she may be assured communications with the Far East vital to her prestige in this half of the world, insists shall be accomplished. The statement of the American Minister was rather to be taken as applying to the wireless situation affecting China as a whole.

And if the information that the State Department has placed the Federal Wireless upon the agenda of the coming Conference be true it must be in connection with the wireless situation in the Far East in general, and not in any manner affecting the completion of that particular contract. Japan and Great Britain might well be allowed the privilege of presenting their grounds for protest against this particular project at the Conference, but they are certain to be met with the reply that America's support of that project is in complete harmony with her maintenance of the open door and denunciation of monopoly privileges in China, which will be the keynote of America's policy at the Conference. In addition, they are quite likely to be met with an invitation to discuss the entire wireless question as affecting China, as a part of the Pacific communfcations problem which will probably constitute the largest concrete issue at the Conference.

America has several "wireless" questions she would like to ask. She will want some sort of gentleman's agreement protecting her wireless communications against Japanese aerial interference which has given so much trouble to the navy wireless. Again, in connection with the Federal contract, it is evident that America, having broken into the ring, must herself become conservative in the matter of the establishment of wireless plants in China. For it is evident that, with the fences once down and the "door" actually "open," Chinese officials will not hesitate to sign further wireless loans which promise to provide them with spending money, and which will involve the construction of additional plants in China ad infinitum, until all commercial advantage of or return on such investment will be precluded by excess of competition.

The easiest way out of any dispute at present is to put it on the agenda, but it is to be doubted whether the Conference will result in any material change of the present situation as regards wireless.

The point at issue was the law regarding land tenure, and the two engaged in an argument.

Rumania Shows Peasant Textiles

(New York Times)

Rumania, that richly endowed country of the Near East which, now three times its pre-war size and with a population of 17,000,000, is working hard to recover its war losses, has sent an interesting collection of some of its products to America and they are on exhibition in the rooms of the French Chamber of Commerce of 599 Fifth Avenue. It is a very delightful exhibition of Rumanian textile craft work, but the general public has not yet come to know about it, although it is open for anyone who will to visit it free of charge, because the formal opening at which the Rumanian Minister, Prince Antoine Bibesco, who recently married the daughter of Asquith, former Prime Minister of England, will be present, has not yet taken place.

This textile work is that of the picturesque Rumanian peasants who form 75 percent of the population of the country and who, almost alone among the European peasantry, still retain their native costumes and their native customs. It is all home work, from the raising of the flax in the linen goods, and the wool in woolen goods through all the processes of spinning, weaving, embroidering and making up the completed garments.

"It may look like a feminine fashion show, of very gay and lovely fashions, but back of it all there is serious thought," says Dr. Arthur Zentler, Executive Delegate of the Banka Marmorosch, Blank and Co. "It may be that American women may like to obtain some of this beautiful peasant work, that the American designers may wish to copy the style of the garments or the many, many years' old stitches and embroidery designs, and of that we shall be very glad, but the real purpose of the exhibition is to show this country, in a friendly and indisputable way, that Rumania hopes for the continued esteem of America.

RUMANIAN ENERGY

"There is nothing," continued Dr. Zentler, "that will so well show that Rumania is seriously endeavoring to reestablish herself and to disprove criticism to the contrary, as to show her work. The peasants of Rumania who till its soil, form 75 percent of the population. When we show by this exhibition of their work that such a large proportion of the population of the country is working, it may be taken for granted that the other 25 percent is doing the same."

Rumania's exhibition of her peasant work is very large and complete. It consists of entire peasant costumes, the foundation a beautiful soft and sheer white crepe, which is a notable Rumanian product, embroidered in colors and with overdress or apron of a heavier material, in deep colors, with perhaps the introduction of metal thread. These are in different colors and in different styles, according to the districts from which they come, and whether they are made by the peasants of the high or the low lands. Most of them are women's costumes, but a broadcloth coat that any woman might envy, with its touch of embroidery in black and colors, is a masculine garment.

Marie, the brilliant and beautiful Queen of Rumania, who, it is thought, may visit America next Spring, has interested herself particularly in the work of the peasants. She herself, said to be the best dressed among the royal women of Europe, wears the native costume upon the occasion of national fetes and the members of the aristocracy following her example, have done the same.

QUEEN MARIE'S INTEREST

Queen Marie, during the war, interested herself in making this work of the peasants saleable, and it is being put on the market in Europe. While many of the garments, gowns and blouses follow the exact peasant lines and are beautiful and practical for use in that form, others have been adapted to modern styles through the influence of the Queen. This is true of the children's clothes also. Lovely Rumanian crepes have been made into lingerie as beautifully sheer and delicate as anything coming from France, the home of fine lingerie, but with the distinctive character of its own country.

There are shops in Bucharest, the capital of Rumania, which is called the Little Paris, where this peasant work is sold exclusively, and also in Sinaia, the Summer resort of the royal family, there are several of these shops. There is also one on the Rue Honore in Paris, which has been established since the war and which is in the picturesque form of a Rumanian peasant house. There are in the exhibition the bright rugs which the peasants throw over the railings of the balconies of their homes, large covers, embroidered in colors, and table linens of varous kinds, bands of embroidery and embroidery has been adopted for the many different small articles worn by women of cultivation.

HOME OF SPINNING WHEEL

In every peasant house in Rumania is the spindle or distaff, and in later years many spinning wheels and the weaving frames. The women are industrious and the portable spindles carried in the hand with which the flax can be spun into thread by a woman who is watching the cattle or doing other kinds of the lighter work in the fields, and in her daily rounds is a constant companion.

The Rumanian peasant woman makes everything she wears and that is worn by her husband and children, and all the textile articles in her home. She is a picturesque creature with her twirling distaff, not only from the gayly embroidered clothes she wears, but from her head covering, cloth of her own weaving which she twists over her dark hair with the ends hanging and which she is never without, although for the fields she may discard her shoes.

"Our agrarian reform will be of great and lasting benefit to the peasants," says Dr. Zentler. "A law passed last July enables them to own their own lands, and as soon as they become accustomed to their new prosperity they will take every advantage of it. It is only natural that they should work better for themselves than they would for a master who is always absent. The law follows a decree made when Rumania entered the war in 1917. Up to that time the land was in the hands of a minority of large land owners.

THE NEW FARMSTEAD

"There were 3,800 of these owning from 2,000 to 4,000 hectares each, a hectare being 2,471 acres. Now only 500 hectares per person is allowed, and with the assistance of the Government peasants can take up their own land on extended installment payments. It is a very certain assurance that there will be no Bolshevism among the Rumanian peasants, for peasants owning their own land are not apt to turn Bolshevik. The result of the act will also be beneficial for the original landowners, who must give their personal attention to the land remaining to them and see that it is worked to advantage.

Rumania with its rich silt deposit from the Danube places agriculture in the first place in its industries; oil comes next. It is rich in timber, oak, beech and fir, timber favored by the country's hot Summers and cold Winters. We have coal mines and an enormous wealth of minerals not yet exploited. We are manufacturing woolen and other articles of which in pre-war times there was even a surplus for export. The present project of an industrial law will protect infant industries. Only industries showing at least 20 percent profit on their invested capital will be taxed, this tax being progressive.

NEXT TO LOWEST WAR DEBT

"After America, Rumania has the lowest war debt of any of the countries engaged in the war. The United States debt per capita, figured in French francs, gold, is 1,170 francs, and Rumania's is about 1,770 francs per capita. That of Great Britain is more than 4,260; France, more than 5,700; Italy, 2,540, and Germany, 5,400. This in Rumania includes the proportion of all her debts, pre-war, during the war and since the war, up to March, 1921."

There are now resident in the United States about 200,000 Rumanians, although exact statistics have never been obtained. Many of them are living in Ohio and others are in Pennsylvania. The textile exhibition is arranged by the Rumanian Educational Bureau, which has its headquarters at Rumania House, 31 and 33 Broadway. This is the bank building of the Banca Marmorosch, Blank and Co., the largest bank of Rumania and also of the Near East, which has had a branch in New York for a little more than a year.

THE BANK BUILDING

Its building, located among a number of other foreign bank buildings of lower Broadway, is one of the most pleasing in that section of the city. It is of brick and white stone, with pillars, not large but distinctive. The speed with which it was put into condition speaks well for Rumanian enterprise. It was an old building entirely remodeled and the work of demolition had been begun when the bank decided to take it over last January.

It put its own architect on the work, Henry Ives Cobb, who designed a building which, while not really foreign, would suggest the home of the people of another nation in America. The building was completed and the new owners moved in March, the work having been done in three months. The words "Rumania House" are across the front. The lower floor of the interior of the building is finished in white stone and on the upper floors the walls are finished with a dull mahogany paneling.

Supplying libraries of Rumanian literature in that language and to some extent in translation in English with books written about Rumania in any language, particularly in English, is the work of the Educational Bureau. Where there are groups of Rumanians it puts in liberaries, and many letters of gratitude attest the value of the work. It also supplies American universities with Rumanian literature and replenishes supplies when they are exhausted.

Queen Marie of Rumania, when she comes to America in the Spring, will speak the language of the country, for she was an English princess, daughter of the Duke of Edinburgh, brother of the late King Edward VII of Great Britain.

Correspondence

NORTHCLIFFE AND THE FILIPINOS

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS.

Sir.—I have just read a news item in your issue of Saturday, stating, in a cablegram from Manila, that Lord Northcliffe, one of England's biggest men, who is making an around the world tour, said that he "can't imagine why the Filipinos want independence."

I am sure Lord Northcliffe can't imagine anything if he stays in Manila for a couple of days only and spends all this time at golf. But if he could go around the islands like General Wood and find that the Philippines are not populated by Americans as Canada and Australia are by British, he will imagine that the Filipino cry is natural and easily understood. If we were all Americans in the Islands, I am sure we could not be stupid enough to ask for separation from the Mother Country, as we don't have anything to pay for our protection as Lord Northcliffe said.

But the main trouble is, and it is a fact that we much regret, that we are not Americans! That's the issue. We are Filipinos and we are proud of it. Respectfully yours,

GERTRUDO KALAMBAKAL, M.D.

Splendors Of The Celestial Vault

BY EDGAR LUCIEN LARKIN
(Director of Lowe Observatory)

Not a vault at all, limitless space, but perspective makes the night sky from a midnight mountain summit appear as if curved like a dome. The astonishing revelations due to recent research in astronomy have already far surpassed the imaginings and longings of early astronomers, and doubtless not the half nor a tenth has been told. The huge 100-inch Hooker mirror on Mount Wilson is engaged in photographing the entire sky above its horizon on the clearest nights on negative plates of the same size. And the observatory at Arequipa, Peru, S. A., is at work on the Southern Hemisphere.

Late in the nineteenth century the Congress of Astronomers at Paris agreed to photograph the entire cosmical sphere on plates of the same size at eighteen different observatories. Years of toil succeeded and the result was 25,478 plates. But when the new photographic chart plates of the sky are completed and compared, who can hope to imagine the change? Entire millions more stars appear on the Wilson and Arequipa plates than were even imagined to exist. Celestial spectrum photography is the latest grand science.

This work of photographing each square degree of the entire sidereal structure may not appeal to the reader at first as a gigantic work, but upon reflection it will be seen that it is of great magnitude. Years of arduous toil will be required. But enough plates have already been secured to show that the universe is composed of a far greater number of suns than had all along been supposed.

The estimate for the entire cosmic edifice based on those parts already photographed is 3,000,000,000 suns. As the work proceeds this three thousand million appears to be conservative. Perhaps four-fifths are in that majestic band of suns encircling the sphere—the Galaxy. Our sun is merely one of the smaller grades. It is seen to be somewhere near the center of the ring, the Milky Way, for if not it would not look like a rough circle. By near I mean a few quadrillion miles.

To the eye looking into a telescope on dark nights these suns appear as diamonds, rubies, emeralds and sapphires; the colors burn and blaze with supernal glow; but on plates their images are minute dots and on positives the black and white effects are seen. The first magnitude stars, as Aldebaran, exactly first magnitude, to Sinus, Canopus, Arcturus, Altair, Autare, Betelguese, Vega, etc., make large dots, but their sizes diminish down to the limit of the twenty-first magnitude, the limit of photographic power of the 100 inch. These latter are viewed in a miscroscope attached to a measuring machine to measure their exact positions.

Photographs, therefore, destroy the gorgeous colors of these glittering gems celestial, so if one wishes to see these beauties, the looking must be direct.

The 100 and 72-inch mirrors are curved to draw ultra-ultra-violet energy waves to their focal planes, invisible to the eye, but best for photographing. Thus many millions of very remote suns are brought to view that never could be known without using the precious ultra-ultra-violet waves. This is photographing the unseen.

One of my readers asks me to give densities of the satellites of Jupiter. Only the diameter of Jupiter's satellites are so far measured with microscopic accuracy sufficient to find their volume compared to Jupiter. Up here in the observatory library the densities of these moons are not given, so it must be computed and for only one here: the third moon, Ganymede.

The average or mean diameter of Jupiter is 88,630 miles, and of Ganymede 3,700 miles. Then the diameter of Jupiter is 1 and of Ganymede 0.04176. Volumes are as cubes of like dimensions. The cube of 0.04776 is 0,0000 7251. But Astronomer Charles A. Young gvies the mass of Ganymede as 0.00008844. That of Jupiter being .1 Law of nature: "Densities are as mass divided by volume." Then 0.00008844 divided by 0.007251 equals 1.22, the density of Jupiter being 1. The density of water is always 1, and that of Jupiter is 1.41 now. Then 1.41 multiplied by 1.22 equals 1.72. Thus good moon Ganymede is 72 percent denser than water. The density of our earth is 5.63, and of our own moon is 0.607 of 5.63, which is 3.417. Granite is 2.5. Thus our moon is denser than if made of granite.

Suzerainty Of Mongols Their Affair, Says Chita

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 24.—Mr. Agarieff, President of the Far Eastern Republic Mission to China, discussed yesterday some of the outstanding issues, which the Chita Government is facing today.

Speaking of the question of communications, which have caused so much trouble to the delegates of the Far Eastern Republic at Dairen, and which brought up the question of changing the seat of the conference, Mr. Agarieff said that it must be due to Russian reactionaries who are in the employ of the Chinese telegraph administration, and who are bent upon making as much trouble for the Chita Government as possible. He said that even here in Peking there had been some trouble in the past, though the service was very much improved at the present moment.

WANT TRADE WITH CHINA

Negotiations with the Chinese Government for the opening of trade relations would probably be resumed very shortly, said Mr. Agarieff. Chinese public opinion as well as that of the Government seemed to be becoming more favorable as fuller knowledge of the Siberian situation was being acquired. He was very hopeful of a successful solution of the problem.

He pointed out with regard to the Urga situation, which was thought by some to be a stumbling block to friendly relations between the Chinese Government and that of the Far Eastern Republic, since it was felt that Urga was in a state of conquest by the Russians, that all that had happened was merely a co-operation between the Mongolians and the troops of the Soviet and the Far Eastern Republic for the expulsion of Ungern, and that neither the Soviet nor the Far Eastern Republic could have any say in the question of whether or not Mongolia should be brought back under the control of China.

That matter, Mr. Agarieff said, was entirely in the hands of the Mongolians themselves, and would have to be discussed at a conference between the Mongolians and the Chinese. He felt, he said, that the Mongolians were perfectly ready to return to their allegiance to the Chinese Government.

DISAPPOINTED AT U. S.

The Russians, Mr. Agarieff said, were much disappointed at not being allowed to send a delegation officially to the Washington Conference, since they had such a large interest in things to be dealt with at that meeting; they were, however, gratified that things had worked out so that at least "trade delegates" would be allowed, the clause under which this was possible reading to the effect, that the Government of the Far Eastern Republic might appoint individuals to discuss question of trade who would be welcomed at Washington, and who would be given the same hearing as was granted to other still unrecognised countries.

As far as he knows, said Mr. Agarieff, the rumors that the Merkouloff Government at Vladivostok was planning to sell the southern section of the Ussuri Rail road to the Chinese, were entirely untrue. But if they should prove to be correct, any such purchase would only be lost money to the purchasers, because the Far Eastern Republic would never recognise any such steps.

Monument To U. S. Unveiled In Chefoo

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 23.—An interesting ceremony occurred at Chefoo last week when a monument in honor of the American People was unveiled. The monumental idea originated with a Mr. Liu, a rich Chinese resident of Chefoo, at the time of the Peace Conference in Paris, the plan then being to erect a memorial to President Wilson.

The trend of events connected with Shantung, however, weakened the enthusiasm of the promotors in their desire to pay tribute to President Wilson, and the scheme lay dormant for some time. Later on it was revived in its present form and carried through with hearty good will on the part of the Chinese residents of that port. Mr. Liu was still the prime mover and contributed largely to the funds, but the Chinese public also subscribed liberally.

Erected on Temple Hill, within the precincts of the city, the monument is of very handsome design. It is surmounted by a circular stone bearing the emblem of the United States.

Mr. Liu is now building a High School behind the monument, under the arch of which it is necessary to pass in entering the school.

FINDS GRASS SOUP DIET OF PEASANT

Relief Worker Says Suffering Is Still Acute In Poland And Austria

U. S. HELP IS MAINSTAY

General Outlook Improved And Business Shows Signs Of Return To Normal

New York, Sept. 14.—The work of the American Relief Administration did much to save Central Europe from Bolshevism, according to J. H. Wallis of Dubuque, Iowa, who has returned to the United States after a five months' survey abroad. He found great suffering in many countries, particularly in Poland and Austria, and said that the peasants who had been driven into Russia in the great Russian retreat, and who have returned to their homes, were living in huts and eating soup made from grass.

"I was told that their condition was improved because the grass was longer," said Mr. Wallis. "In general, the aspect today of Central Europe and the Baltic section is one of recovery. The recovery is, perhaps, not as rapid as it might have been if men and nations had been ideally wise, but it is substantial and promising. Although there are distressing conditions, it is a mistake to suppose that Europe is sinking. The contrary is true. There are still some international wrangles. Austria, not yet adjusted to her new place in the world order, is still suffering business stagnation. But economic conditions are improving, the economic barriers between countries are being broken down by commercial treaties, the railway systems are getting back to normality. Order has been restored everywhere. The responsible authorities in all these countries are respected.

TALKED WITH OFFICIALLS

"My investigation in Central Europe and the Baltic States took me into Austria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Germany, Poland, Lithuania, Latvia and Esthonia. In all these countries I had the privilege of talking with the principal Government officials. I also made it a point to get the views of the most prominent bankers and business men of the various countries. Beyond that, I have seen labor leaders, Presidents of universities, workmen, peasants, refugees.

"It is true that there is still a great deal of hardship and poverty. I have seen people living in old dugouts along the Russo-German line. In the eastern section of Poland, I have seen Poles who returned to find their primitive log huts gone or in a state of ruin. They were making a desperate effort to live, perhaps two or three families crammed into a shack that looked like a ruined barn, without work animals, cows or proper agricultural implements.

"Perhaps most Americans do not realise the effects of the vast feeding operations of the American Relief Administration. Millions of children have been saved from death, disease, or permanent weakness by the great operations which have covered thirteen countries, feeding at different times probably 10,000,000 children, supplying 1,500,000,000 meals and expending $100,000,000. But there have been other results of far-reaching importance, economically and politically."

SEES BOLSHEVISM CHECKED

Mr. Wallis said this work had checked the spread of Bolshevism, assuring to children more care than they had received before in these countries, teaching the people organisation and co-operation, self-reliance and business methods, benefiting the general health of the generation by careful feeding, securing friendship for the United States, and affording impetus to the study of child nutrition.

"The American Relief Administration has been upholding democracy in Europe," he concluded. "The new democracies, all faced with forces of disintegration with the hunger that breeds political violence, have been stabilised, strengthened, and made secure by the feeding operations. The chief officials in some countries told me that the American feeding has been their political salvation, and in all countries even the more cautious officials admitted that it was a very material aid. Private citizens were more positive.

"'The American feeding saved us from Bolshevism' was their general view."
